ABSTRACT

An electric motor-operated vehicle includes a vehicle body, an electric motor for driving the rear wheel, a motor control unit provided with a motor driving circuit for driving the electric motor and a rear arm having a front end pivoted to swing on the vehicle body and having a rear end supporting the rear wheel, wherein the electric motor and the motor control unit are located within a contour of the rear wheel of the rear arm viewed from either side of the vehicle.